

Texas: Austin — State hospitals are banning smoking on their property, drawing complaints from advocates who contend that the rights of the mentally ill are being infringed upon. People with psychiatric disorders are twice as likely to smoke as others, according to studies. North Texas State Hospital campuses in Wichita Falls and Vernon banned smoking by patients or employees; state hospitals in San Antonio and Rusk are poised to do the same. ...

Pflugerville — A 101-year-old blind, retired teacher says there's nothing like a good education. Now Fannie Mae Caldwell is getting a school named for her. The Fannie Mae Caldwell Elementary School is expected to be finished next summer. Caldwell, who lives in a nursing home, is credited with teaching many children and a number of adults to read and write.
